

Mariyo Yagi

ANCIENT RIPPLE

Japanese artist (born in Kobe, Japan) Doctor of Humanities Honoris Causa

Mariyo Yagi sculpture space has created environmental projects and public performance as her medium included exquisite gardens and landscapes, major parks and monumental earthworks, that transform communities and the "built environment" through interactive art.

Her poetic art works resonate with her NAWA-Rope principle called NAWALOGY: Spiral energy of movement and human beings together a metaphorical rope, bonding altogether in the Cosmos. She has found her own global vocabulary, NAWA = "You & I", an infinite array of spiraling forms. Her work continues opening new vistas and possibilities for humans from imagining a better world.
